

Mid
Surrey
Directory
of Dementia
Services

2013

Foreword

I am very pleased as chair of the Mid Surrey Dementia Local Implementation Group, to present the first dementia directory of services for people with dementia, their family members, caregivers and health professionals. It is intended as a guide to signpost those who require support, to the right agency, at the right time, and in the right way. Much is said about ease and equality of access to information, and this directory, I feel, goes some way to achieving that aim.

I have seen all too often how a diagnosis of dementia can have devastating consequences for all concerned, if the right support is not offered in time. I hope that this directory helps to change that for people with dementia and their caregivers in the Mid Surrey area. I am grateful for the publicity that dementia is rightly receiving at this time, and this directory highlights the excellent range of services already available to those in need.

The directory of services would not have been created without the dedicated subgroup, Paul Tame (Home Instead) and Karen Masetti (CSH Surrey), supported by Shidaa Adjin-Tettey (Surrey County Council). I am sure that this is the first of many editions as the directory grows from strength to strength. Its value, of course, lies in how it is received and used by the people for whom it is intended. I hope it proves its worth.

Back Care Service

Back care advisors provide information, advice and training to carers on all aspects of moving and handling. Without the right support and training, as a carer you may be prone to back injuries and back pain especially if you are required to move and handle on a frequent basis.

Older carers are particularly vulnerable as they may also be frail or ill. Young carers are also at high risk from injury and their future health and development may be affected.

Care in Your Home

For many people it is important to them to stay in their own, familiar surroundings near to friends and family. At the same time, retaining independence is also important but that can mean you need a little extra help. Some carefully chosen home care (sometimes known as “domiciliary care”) can be a solution to getting a little help whilst retaining a good level of personal freedom. Community Nursing and Therapy

CSH Surrey

CSH is a not-for-profit organisation that provides therapy and community services to the people of central Surrey.

CSH is co-owned and run by the nursing and therapy team it employs. This means the people who are most in touch with patients' needs are in charge of providing the services.

Our goal is to revolutionise healthcare in our community and improve health standards for all

How can our end of life / palliative care services support you at home?

CSH Surrey provides a broad range of palliative care services so that patients and their carers can feel secure returning home knowing that they will be supported by a nursing team that provides a high standard of care.

These home-based services aim to:

- Provide patients with holistic care at the end of their lives, addressing their physical, spiritual, social and psychological needs

- Provide care to all patients with life limiting illnesses , not just cancer
- Support patients to stay at home if that is where they wish to be, to be in comfort and with their symptoms under good control
- Support carers in their important role
- Prevent unnecessary and inappropriate admissions to A&E and hospital by supporting patients at home.

Who provides these services?

Your 'key worker' for palliative/end of life care is a district nurse.

We have seven district nursing teams and they are specially qualified to provide care in the home.

District nurses are particularly skilled in providing palliative/end of life care and enabling patients to be cared for at home, if that is where they wish to be.

Each district nurse team includes registered general nurses, health care assistants and administrators.

The district nursing teams work closely with GPs and specialist palliative care teams from local hospices to give support to patients, their relatives and carers, delivering a high standard of nursing care.

They also work with other professionals to provide all of your care needs. These may include, for example, community matrons, specialist nurses (in respiratory conditions, heart failure, Multiple Sclerosis, Parkinson's disease or continence), and social care, continuing health care and voluntary organisations

What care do district nurses provide?

The district nursing service can provide care up to four times a day, although reassurance, support and nursing care is available 24 hours a day via the district nurses, as well as other support services.

They provide:

- Assessment
- Advance care planning
- Advice and support
- Personal care
- Symptom control and medication support
- Nutritional support
- Continence care
- Wound care
- Equipment
- Bereavement support

The teams can also provide access to a night sitting service, as well as additional nursing support through CSH Surrey's 'community and hospice home nursing service'.

If required, the district nurses can request community hospital beds, where the staff are skilled in providing palliative/end of life care 24 hours a day.

You will have been referred to the district nursing service by a health professional e.g. GP or Acute Hospital Consultant and then can contact them 24 hours a day on a specific number they give you.

Hospices

Princess Alice Hospice (PAH)

Princess Alice Hospice is a charity providing holistic care to adult patients and support to their families and friends across a large part of Surrey, south west London and Middlesex. Patients with any diagnosis are accepted, if their needs can be met by the specialist palliative care team. Referrals are made through healthcare professionals such as GPs, District Nurses, Community Matrons and hospital clinical teams.

Clinical services include;

- Community visits by specialist palliative care healthcare professionals
- Rapid Response
- 8-8 Night Nursing Service
- Hospice Inpatient Unit
- Out of hours telephone advice line for patients known to the community team
- Bereavement Service offering counselling and support to the families and friends of patients known to the hospice

Specialist palliative care is delivered by multidisciplinary teams who can be accessed by health care professionals for generic advice on palliative care issues even if a patient has not yet been referred to our service.

Education and training

As a leading UK Hospice, education is also central to the work and PAH delivers innovative teaching and training to a wide group of people including teaching on symptom control, end of life care and Advance Care Planning.

Princess Alice Hospice is a Regional Training Centre for the Gold Standards Framework (GSF). The education team can offer the workshops required for the GSF Care Home programme which, if successful, leads to accreditation. This is a well-recognised programme supported by government strategy which ensures that the care provided for people dying in care homes, many of whom have dementia as a primary or secondary diagnosis is of a high quality. This programme has been shown to improve the quality and coordination of care, encourage proactive planning, improve communication with families, GPs and Specialist Palliative Care Teams and improve staff morale, confidence and retention.

St Catherine's Hospice

St Catherine's Hospice is a charity dedicated to providing free end of life care and support to people in Crawley, Horsham, Mid Sussex and East Surrey. This service is extended to patients' families, friends and carers through counselling, advice and carer days. Patients are referred by their GP, consultant or other healthcare professionals.

Dementia care

- St Catherine's already supports patients who have dementia, secondary to their neurological illness (e.g. Parkinson's, MS), as well as patients and carers who have dementia as an additional healthcare need, in order to enable the patient to be cared for in their preferred place of care.
- Referrals are accepted for those who have advanced dementia and would benefit from advice about symptom management and support to enable end of life care in their home or current place of care (such as residential/nursing home, or community hospitals).
- St Catherine's works with care home staff to support end of life care in the patient's familiar environment.
- The hospice is keen to enable patients with cognitive impairment or early dementia to develop an advance care plan. This is likely to be achieved through education and collaboration with healthcare professionals and support workers (e.g. dementia support workers, dementia navigators, psychiatry and elderly medicine teams).

Education and Training

- People with dementia who are nearing the end of their life can expect to be supported to make decisions that allow them and their families/carers to be prepared for their death. Their care will be well coordinated and planned so that they die in the place and in the way they have chosen (Department of Health, 2009).
- The Department of Health also calls for all health and social care staff to have the knowledge and skills to support people with dementia and to be able to access learning opportunities on a continual basis. To support this vision the education team at St Catherine's Hospice was recently commissioned by Surrey Primary Care Trust to design a new course entitled 'Managing End of Life Care for People with Dementia'. The first course will be launched in April 2013. It is aimed at all health and social care professionals who work with people with dementia towards the end of their lives.
- St Catherine's was also commissioned to design and deliver, in partnership with Surrey Care Association, three study days on 'End of Life Care for People with Dementia' for those working in domiciliary care. These will also be launched in April 2013. To book a place on any course, visit www.stch.org.uk/educationandtraining/learningopportunities.
- All of the five day courses (with an option to attend single days) are quality assured by the University of Brighton and the University of Surrey.
- In addition to its formal training courses, St Catherine's also offers healthcare professionals specialist advice on palliative care.

St Catherine's Hospice strives for excellence and its commitment to continual learning and development in the field of palliative care underpins the high quality of care and expertise for which it has a valued reputation.
